FOREWORD

A yearbook is a lasting collection of memories which is to be kept and cherished, to be read again and again in the years to come. We on the yearbook staff hope that we have served effectively, that we have collected here a true cross-section of Edison Tech's activities and achievements during this last year. Only time will tell whether or not we have accomplished these things.

DEDICATION

For his forty years of service to the youth of Rochester, twenty-six of which have been here at Edison,

For his unstinting efforts to disclose some of the intangible yet worthwhile values of life to these youths,

For making the Edison Tech Follies a musical tradition that is eagerly awaited and thoroughly enjoyed by SRO audiences,

For these and for his many other contributions of service beyond duty, the Senior Class of Edison Technical and Industrial High School orders Mr. George E. Troup to come center-stage and take a well-deserved bow. To him, with deep respect and sincere gratitude, we dedicate this 1966 Edisonian.

Class of 1966

Among his educational accomplishments are a Bachelor of Science Degree from Alfred University, a Master of Science Degree from the University of Rochester, and graduate work at New York University. Mr. Humphrey has been a chemical engineer in research and development, and has served three years in the Army in special technology. His teaching experiences include four years at a rural school, head of a vocational school in Ohio, and two years at the New York University. Before becoming principal, he served as head of the Science and Mathematics Departments and acted as Vice-Principal at Edison.

EXPLORATORY

The word exploratory comes from the Latin word Explore, meaning to inspect, to examine, or to test. This is what our fine exploratory program does. Every ninth grade student is given an opportunity to accomplish this phase of education, by rotating through six major areas of work and proving to himself and his instructors, his ability, skill or interest in one particular field.

Among the exploratory shops at Edison are sheet metal, wood and metal, drafting, electricity, textiles and machine shop. In each of these shops the ninth grader learns the basic fundamentals of work in that area. At the end of this program the student chooses the field that interests him the most and that he wishes to pursue for the next three years.

Graphic Arts Exploratory program acquaints the beginning students with the various areas in Graphic Arts. The textile program is designed to give the beginning students an insight into the textile industry as well as a training for future workers.

Art Education and Industrial Arts are programs designed for the eighth grade students, and offer a wide variety of activity which includes wood-working, ceramics, clay modeling, drawing, painting, block cutting and block printing.

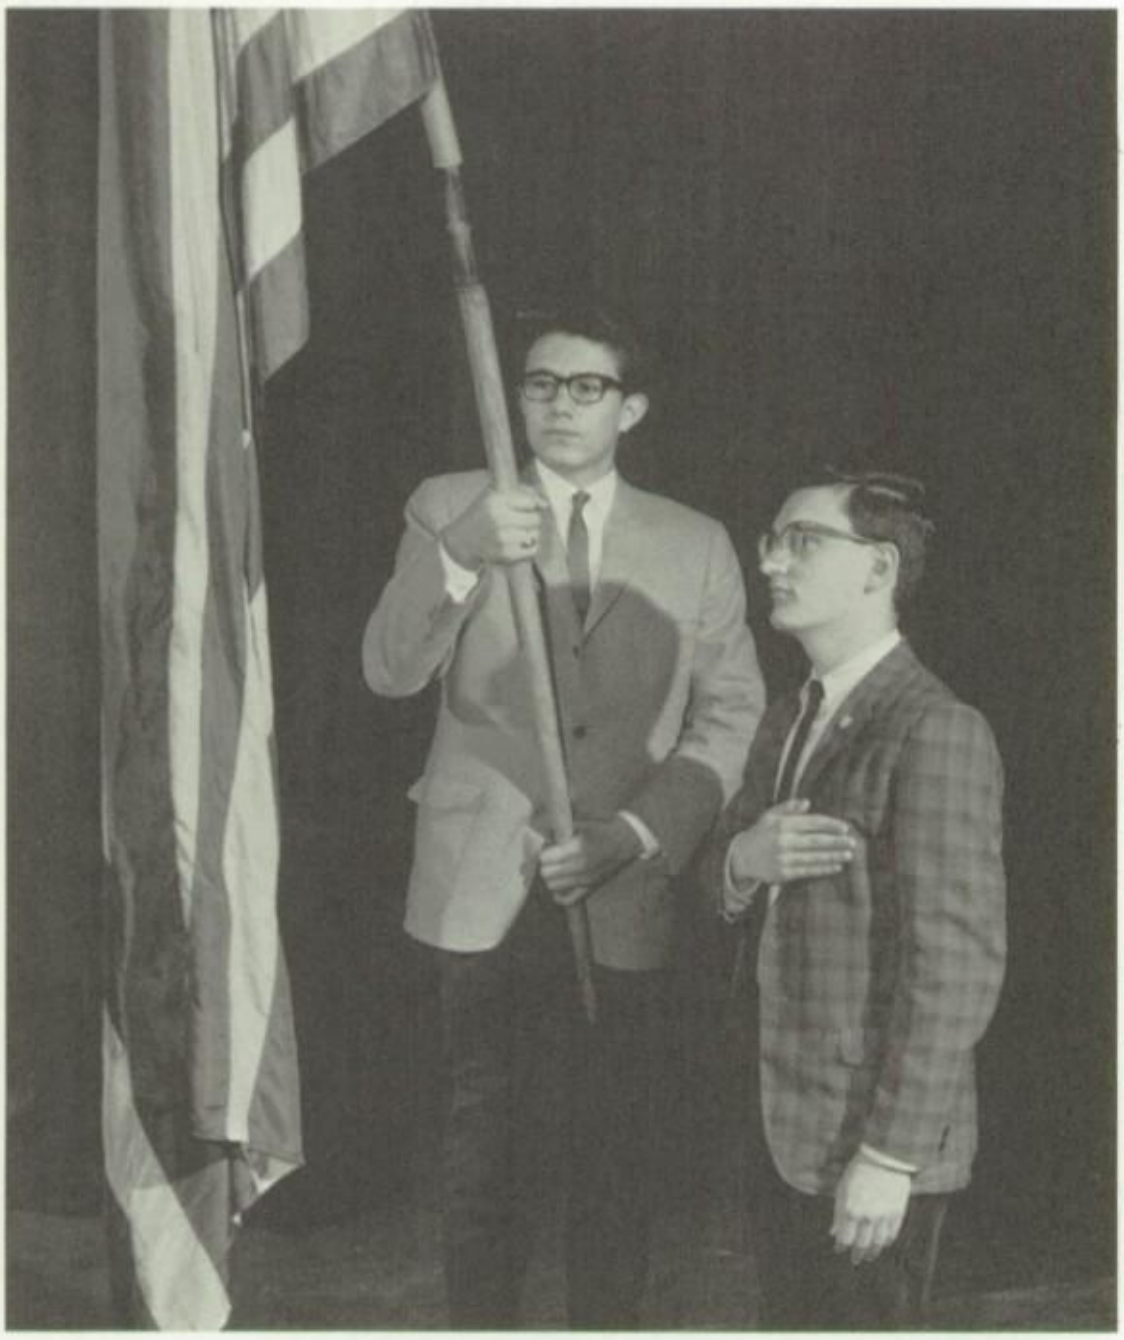
ACTIVITIES



Bachner, Newman

STANDARD BEARERS

In these challenging times one should stop to appreciate the value and meaning of our free society. There is no greater honor for doing this than to be entrusted with the colors of this great free nation. The standard bearers are guardians of our flag. Their privilege is to guard and handle the flag at assemblies and other school events. They are selected on the basis of top scholastic achievement and school citizenship during their Junior year.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

"The object of this Chapter shall be to create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote worthy leadership, and and to encourage the development of character in pupils of Thomas A. Edison Technical and Industrial High School."

Membership is based on the four traits mentioned above. A group of faculty advisers elect all members to the Chapter, whose Charter was granted in 1933.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Mentz, Robinson, De Lario, Harness, Chappell

The Engineering Club of Edison is composed of the technical students who are seniors and juniors. An understanding of the engineering field is brought to the minds of each member by a series of field trips to various technical institutes and industries. Besides the educational phase of the engineering program, social activities are sponsored by the club members throughout the school year.

ENGINEERING CLUB

The Science Club provides for its members the opportunity to work at projects of their own choosing. Many times these projects are of a long term nature, spreading over months or even years.

Projects range in complexity from analyzing the wavelength of light omitted by excited gases under reduced pressure to performing a series of chemistry experiments from a laboratory manual. Each club member, depending upon the type of project chosen, may during his Junior or Senior year, enter the project in a number of science scholarship competitions. Many of these competitions provide excellent scholarships as well as a great deal of prestige for the winners.

SCIENCE CLUB

TECH SINGERS AND TECH FOLLIES

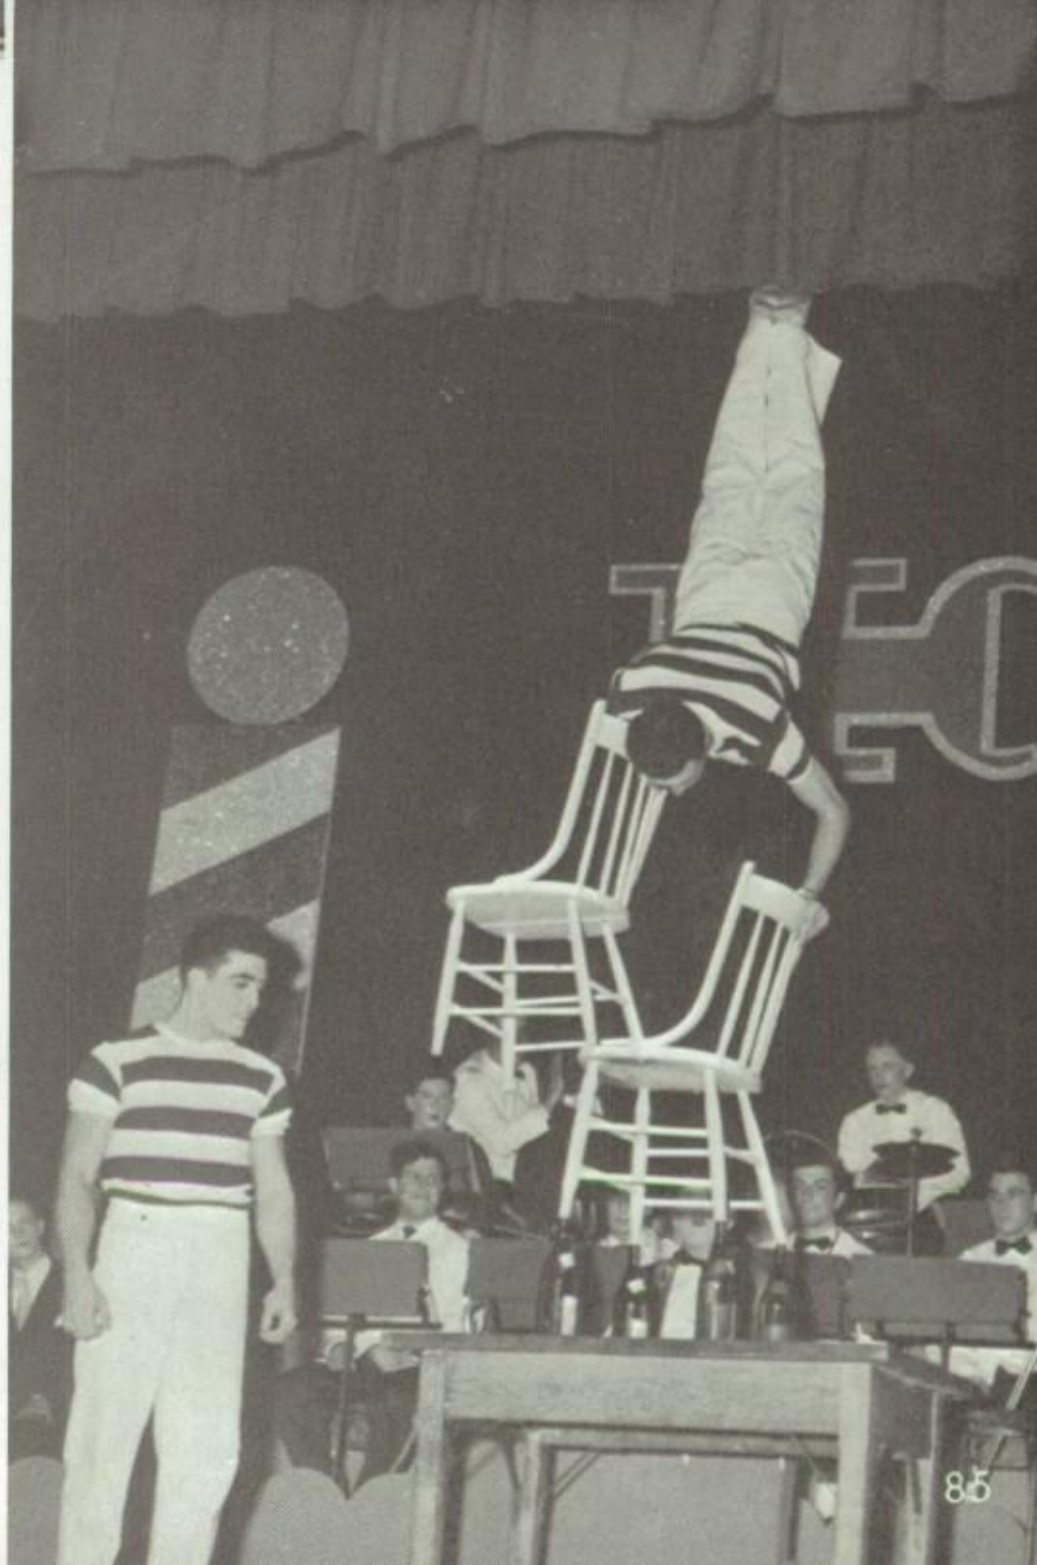
TECH SINGERS

The Tech Singers is a selected group of Techmen chosen from the Glee Club and Voice Classes. The talented boys make numerous public appearances both in the school and in the community. Their singing has helped to maintain the fine reputation of Edison Tech.

TECH FOLLIES

The Tech follies is one of the best known high school theatrical events in the Rochester area. Tech students assisted by girls from area high schools combine to stage a hit parade of talent and entertainment. This year marks the 23rd anniversary of this all school event. All departments of the school cooperate to make this annual school activity a success.

TECH FOLLIES



EDISONIAN STAFF

We, the Edisonian Staff, are grateful for the loyal support of the student body and for the sympathetic understanding, the patience and encouragement of the Faculty. We hope that we have captured within the pages of this book those memories which will become increasingly precious with the years.

EDI-TECH STAFF

First Row: Mr. Fuhrman, Lill, Champney, Olds, Bachner, Talbot.

This year's Edi-Tech staff is composed of seniors who have been working on the paper for three years. They do all the work except printing and because of their hard work and experience, they have published some of the finest issues in recent years.

VARSITY CLUB

CHEERLEADERS

Cheerleaders encourage and direct an active, orderly, vociferous participation on the part of the spectators at school sports events. As an alert, ambitious group, they promote ticket sales and school spirit for the teams that are fielded.

STAGE CREW

First Row: Panych, Morley, Bartholomay, Mr. Stoeber. Second Row: Sacchetti, Milner, Amato, Yatteau.

The focus of attention in the auditorium is on the stage. Behind the scenes, this alert and efficient stage crew plays a vital and interesting part in the assembly programs and stage productions. The movement of the curtains, the scenery and the control of the colored and white spot and overhead lights by the stage crew creates a stimulating and beautiful setting. These members of the stage crew are ever conscious of the necessity of meeting the challenges of quick changes in the programs and situations that arise. Being an important part in the activities on stage is enjoyed by this competent stage crew.

SCENERY CREW

While some think us Bohemian in our ubiquitous smocks, aprons, and coveralls, these practical trademarks are justified by the modern masterpieces displayed in the backgrounds and props of our annual Tech Follies. However, the gaze of bewilderment which periodically beams from our faces can be traced to the problems of executing a panel or clearing debris of an overturned bucket of paint. Never let it be said that we are the victims of heated arguments about those whose design is to be chosen, just participants in friendly orientations.

The members of this year's crew were chosen for their resourcefulness, creativeness, and technical know-how, as evidenced by the "way-out" props in the 1966 Follies.

PROJECTION CREW

Mr. G. Gregory, Cudahy, Virkus, Fritz, Clovis.

This group of selected students operate the powerful carbon arc lights in the two spot lights and the Baloptican slide projector. This unseen group helps substantially to provide the specific effects so necessary in assemblies and stage productions.

The students learn to "trim" and operate two types of spot lights and the Baloptican projector for showing large-size slides. Part of their responsibilities include operating and maintaining a special motor-generator set for two of these projectors, an experience appropriate for electrical students.

SOUND CORPS

The skills one masters in debating helps one to become a better speaker, a keener thinker, and a more critical listener.

SHOPS

EIGHTH GRADE INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Mr. Huntoon instructs student in the use of a jig saw.

The Industrial Arts Department endeavors to familiarize the 8th Grade students with basic tools, materials, and industrial processes. Besides creating good working habits, the students develop an appreciation for good workmanship and good design. The opportunity to work with others and the opportunity for creative expression is always there. The students learn to develop their skills by working with such materials as wood, metal, clay, plastics, etc. All work is performed in a formal shop atmosphere, with strict adherence to standard shop procedure for safety.

INSTRUMENTATION

Instrumentation is the science of measurement and control of the physical and chemical properties of matter. Instrumentation is the heart of automation and is of ever-increasing importance in the modern world.

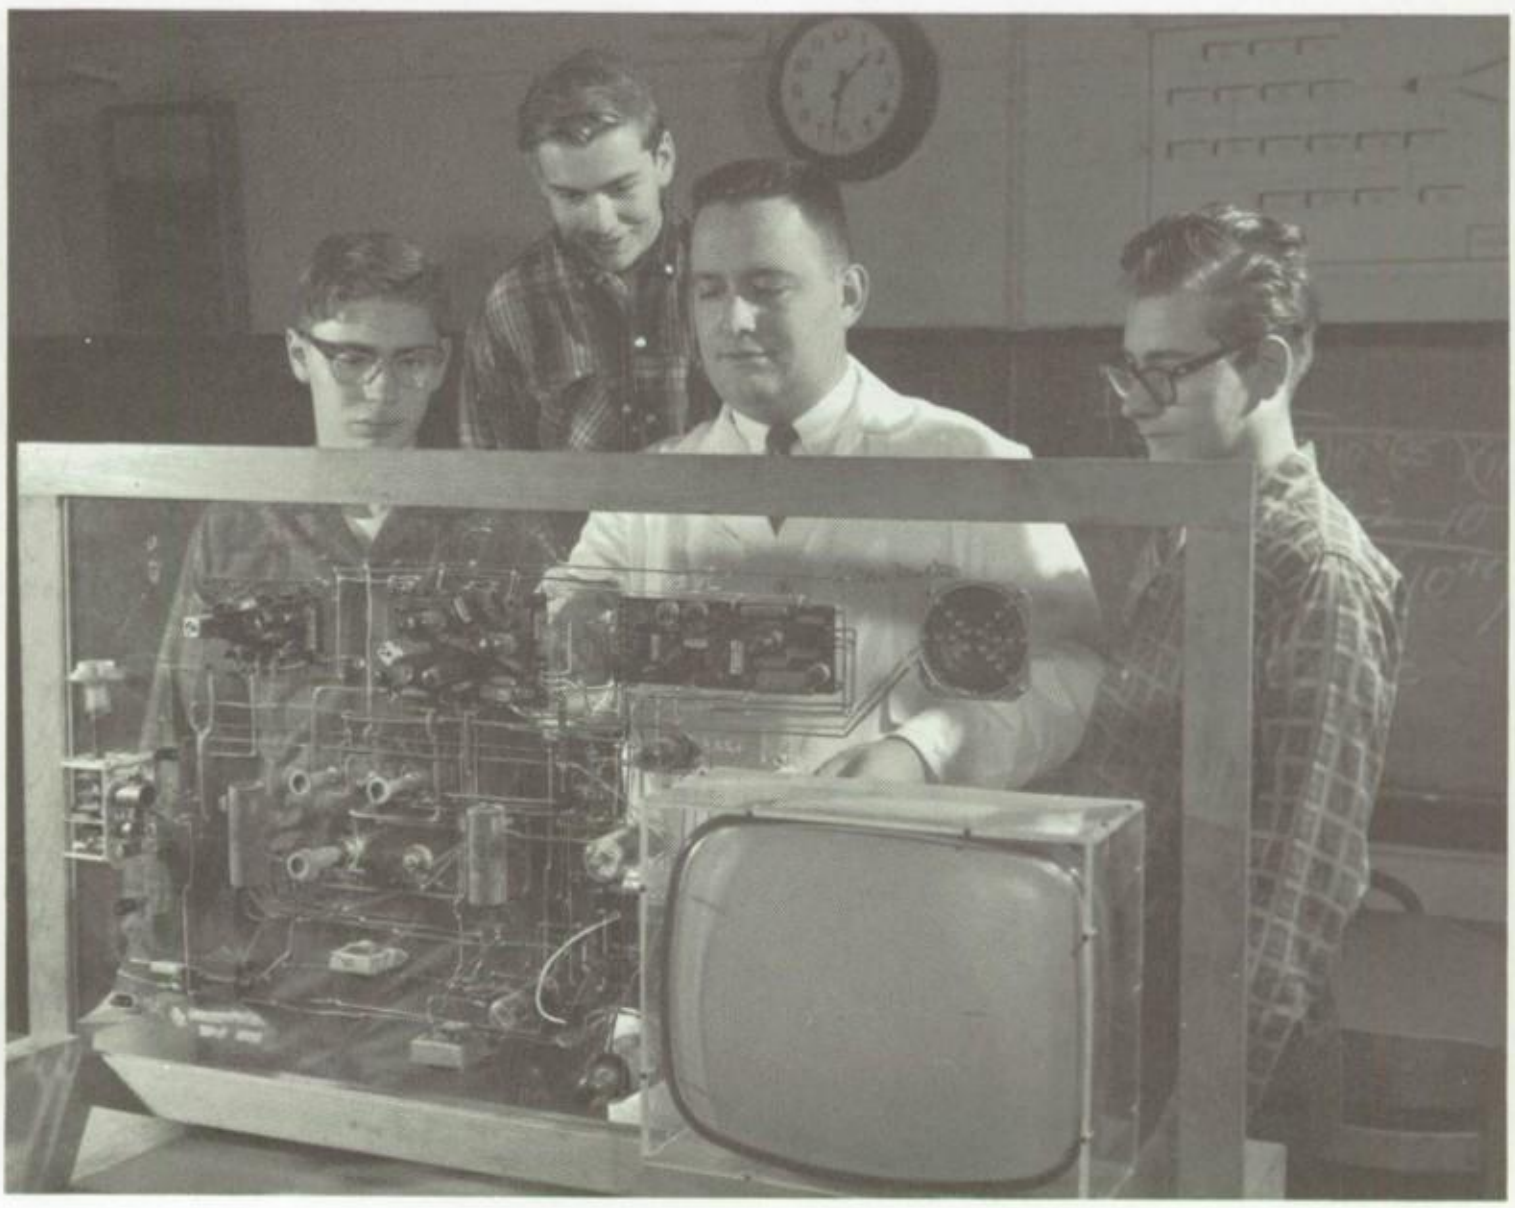
Study of instrumentation at Edison Tech prepares the student for a place in this field. He may become an instrument mechanic or technician working for an instrument manufacturer or for a manufacturer who uses instruments to control his processes. He may continue his education in college or technical institutes and become an instrumentation engineer.

The instrumentation course includes four years of mathematics, drafting, chemistry, and physics. These are all applied in the instrumentation laboratory where actual commercial instruments are put to use by the student. The student measures temperature, pressure, fluid flow, humidity, velocity, and other variables with these instruments.

Mr. Read recording students' progress on a dead weight tester.

ELECTRICITY

Mr. Palermo observing students testing vacuum tube characteristics.



Mr. Maltese demonstrates television circuitry.

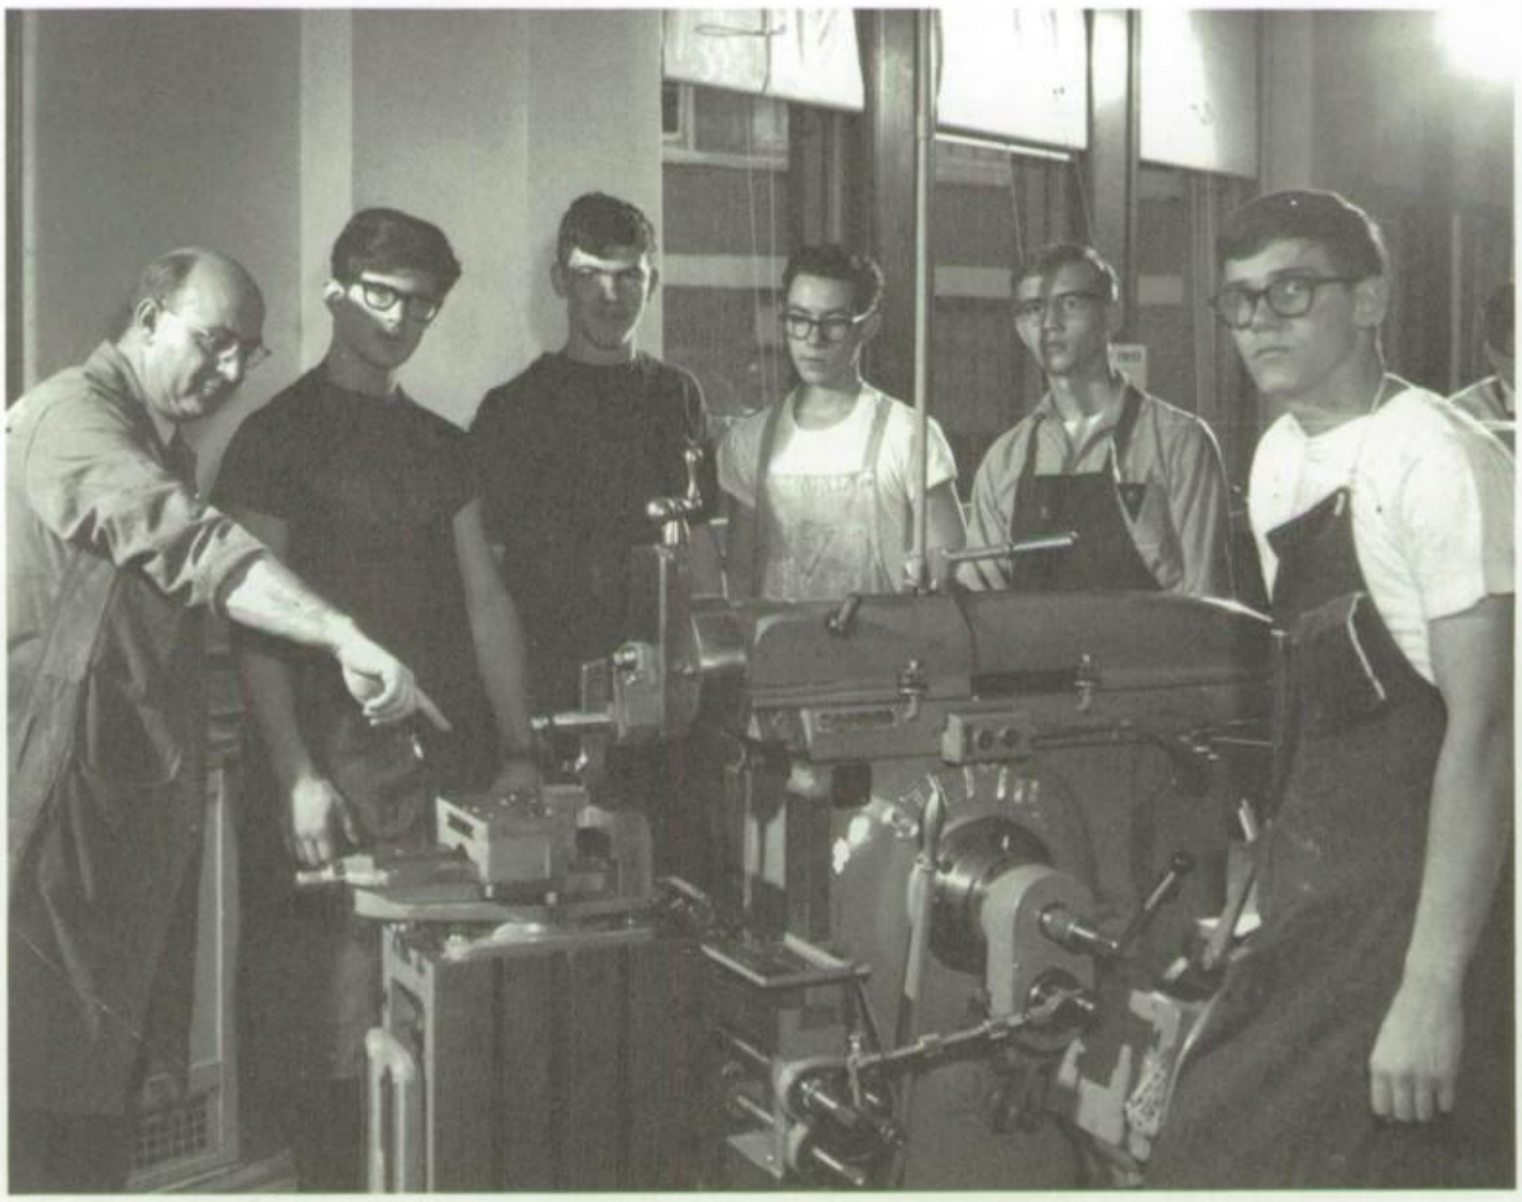
MACHINE

In the Edison Tech Machine Shop, an emphasis is placed on learning and performing the precise operations of the trade. Accuracy, in the uses and functions of measuring instruments and machine tools, is constantly stressed.

Edison's Machine Shop is partitioned into two sectors. The technical program, deals with the study and analysis of the machine shop tools and materials. Operation and practice of machine shop skills is developed in the industrial program, where latest tape controlled machines are being incorporated.

After achieving a thorough background in the machine shop, the student is eligible for work in industry or continued study in this trade.

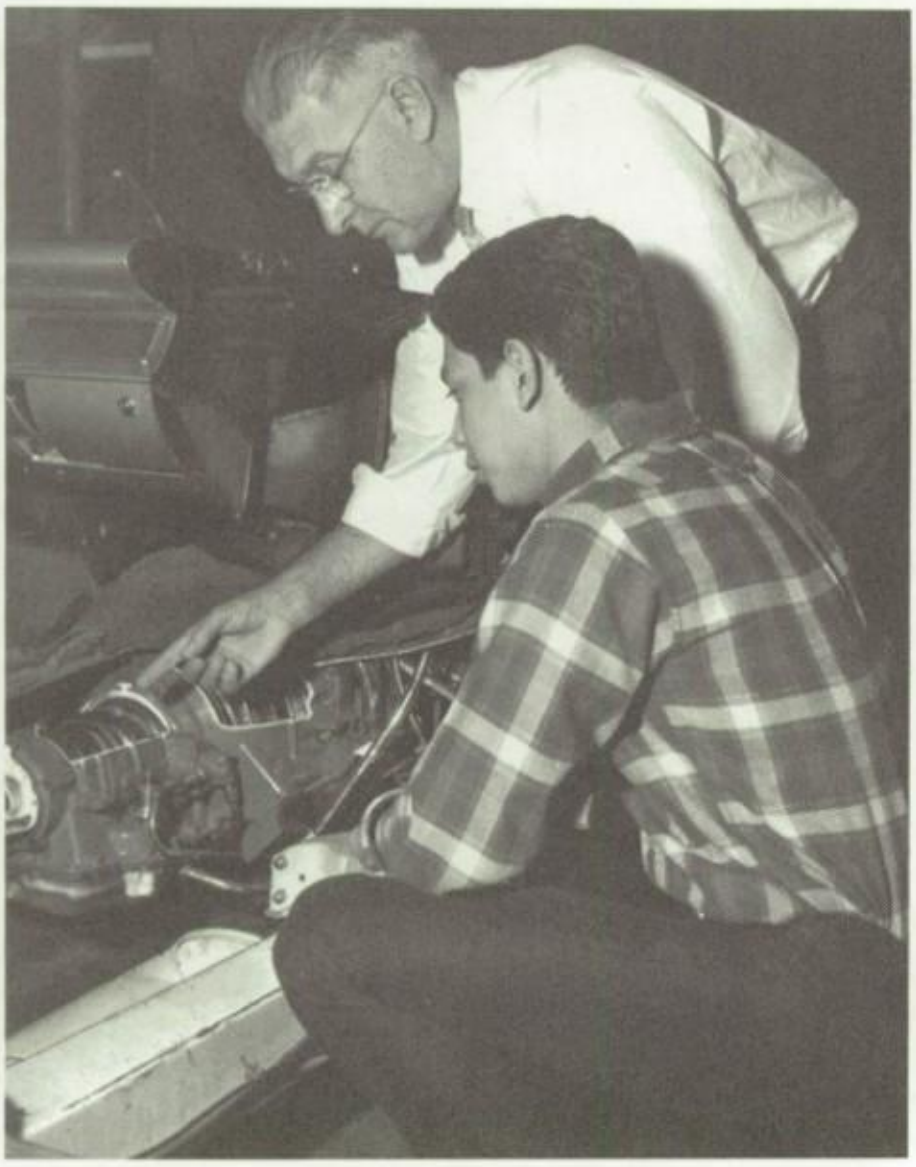
Mr. Courneen instructs in use of surface grinder.



Students observe instruction in the use of a shaper.

AUTOMOTIVE

Students removing engine head.



The Automotive Mechanics Shop of Edison Tech is divided into three sections which prepare the student for work in the automotive field.

Theory and basic fundamentals of the automobile engine are discussed and practiced in the 10th year shop. These theories are followed by the use of precision tools, and a study of automotive "trouble shooting" in the 11th year. The basic goal is completed in the 12th year, when the student applies his theoretical knowledge and is ready for work in industry.

Mr. Christ explains functioning of automobile transmission.

Mr. Feinen demonstrates the headliner.

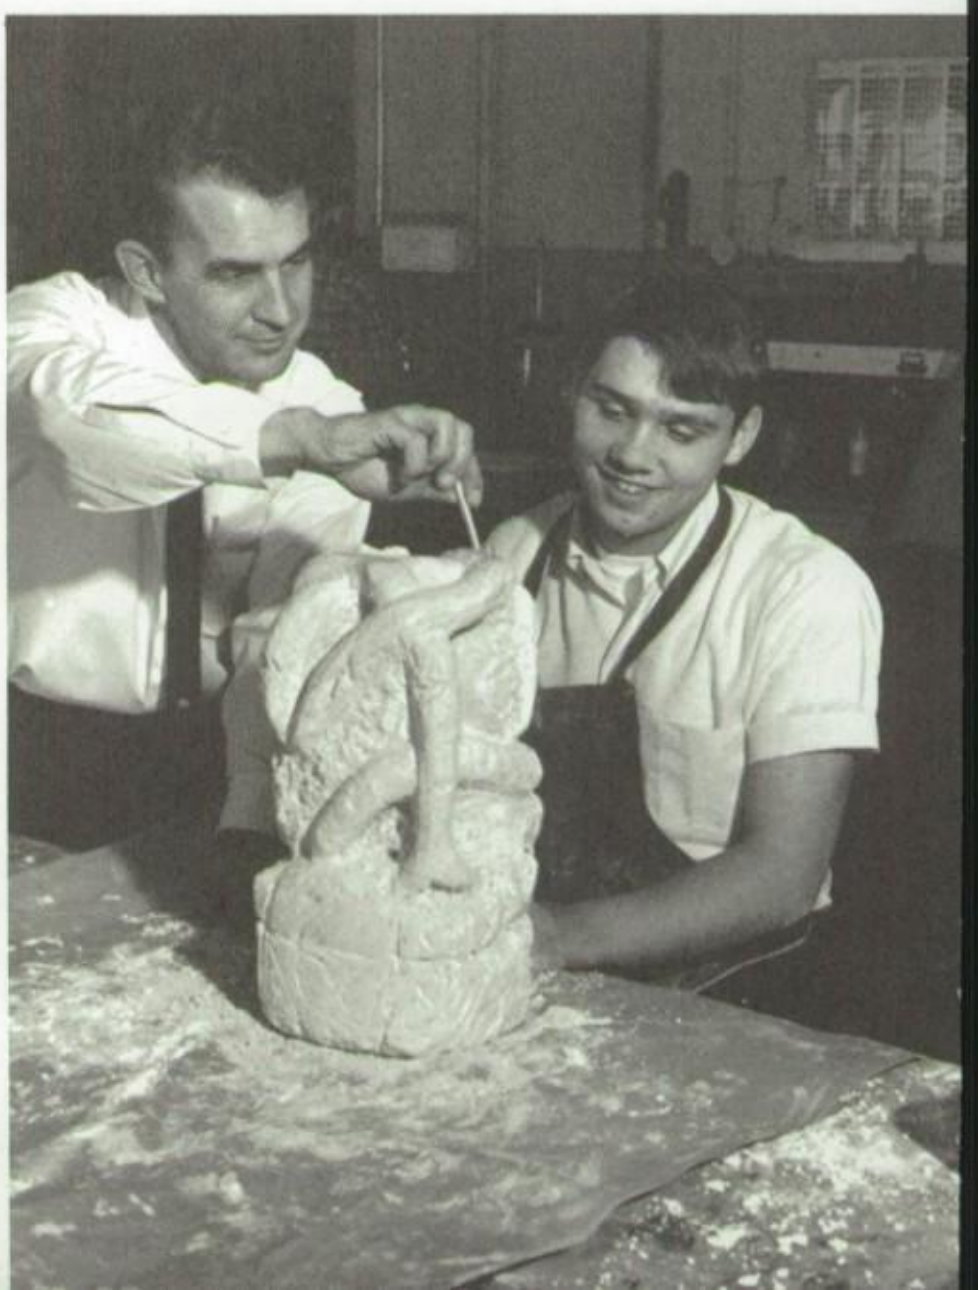
ADVERTISING DESIGN

Advertising Design, broadly speaking, may be considered to be any illustrative or design function applied to the publishing, advertising, display, visual education, and manufacturing fields.

At Edison this course is taught in relation to the kinds of art services needed by the businesses and industries of Rochester and is based on problems that duplicate those found in the working situation after graduation.

Creative inventiveness and imaginative thinking, along with a high degree of technical competence, are required from the students in the Advertising and Design Shop.

Student receives advice in sculpture technique from Mr. Feinen.



Mr. Nielsen gives instruction in the opaquing of negatives.

LITHOGRAPHY

Here at Edison Tech the students are given an opportunity to develop some of the skills needed in lithography.

The Lithography Shop prints items for the Board of Education. The jobs include drafting sheets, attendance cards, guidance charts, monthly publications, shop records, and Christmas cards.

In the field of lithography a student may become an artist, photographer, stripper, plate-maker, pressman, or cutter; all of these branches offer great opportunities. Of the students who have taken lithography, approximately 75 percent have continued in the field. Many have gone on to higher education and now are in positions of management in lithography.

Instructor and students observing the feeder end of the new 25-inch offset press.

Mr. Swierkos checking student's drawing.

DRAFTING

Drafting is a universal, descriptive, and graphical language, offering positive and precise information so necessary to the engineer, technician, craftsman, and mechanic.

Drafting is composed of varying lines, which may be sketched free-hand or drawn with instruments. By sketching of drawing lines in a logical system of related views according to established standards, intricate and complicated shapes, circuits, and elevations are clearly shown.

As a subject at Edison, drafting is taught at several different levels. Facilities and equipment used in instruction are comparable to those found in industry.

Seniors completing drafting assignments and projects.

TEXTILES

TEXTILE FABRICATION

Students in the Textile Fabrication program are offered two levels of learning. The exploratory students learn the basic trade fundamentals, while the advanced students design and construct personal projects as well as working on production jobs. Instruction is given with standard tools and equipment used in modern clothing plants. Seniors can start work on the co-op program and continue on a full time basis after graduation.

Mr. Neuscheler instructs students in pattern layout.

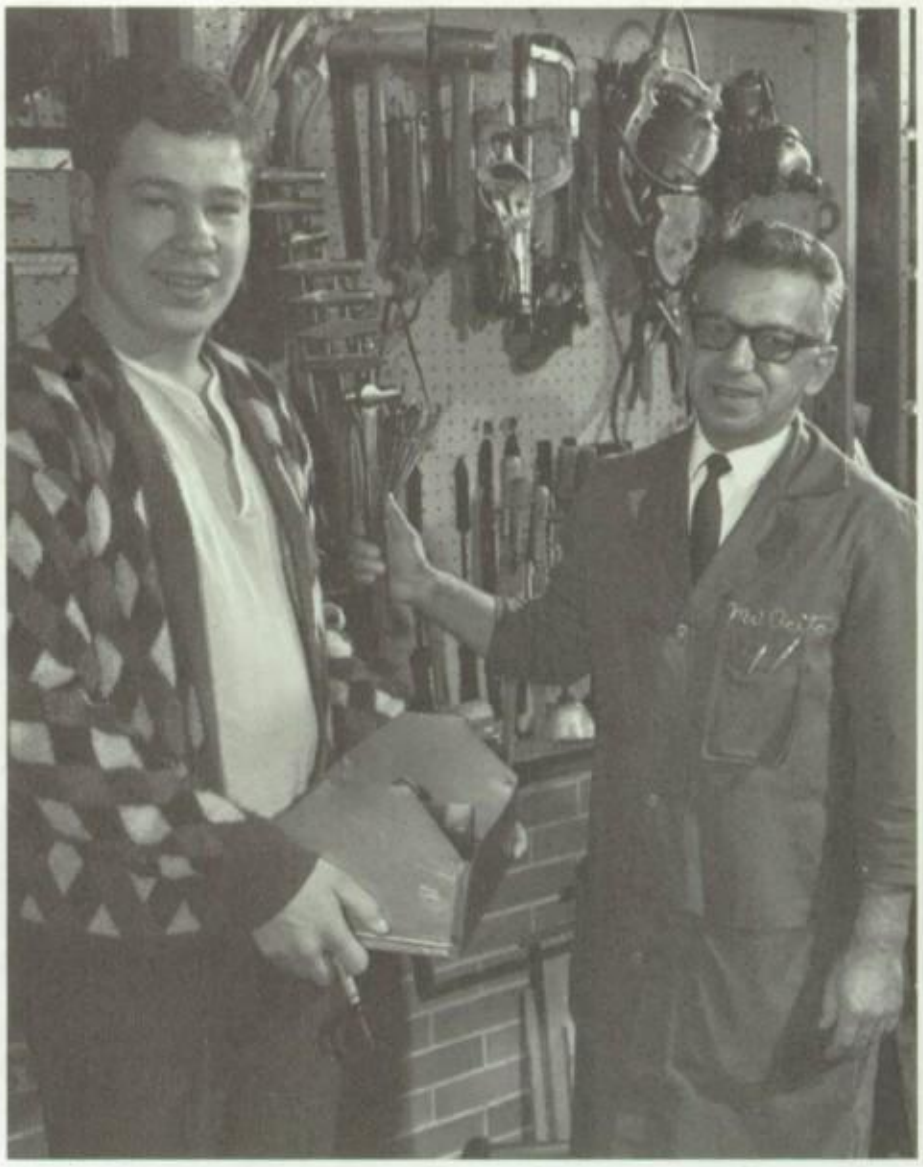
SHEET METAL

The advanced Sheet Metal Shop is equipped to provide a well-rounded training program for the student whose interest and aptitudes lean in this direction.

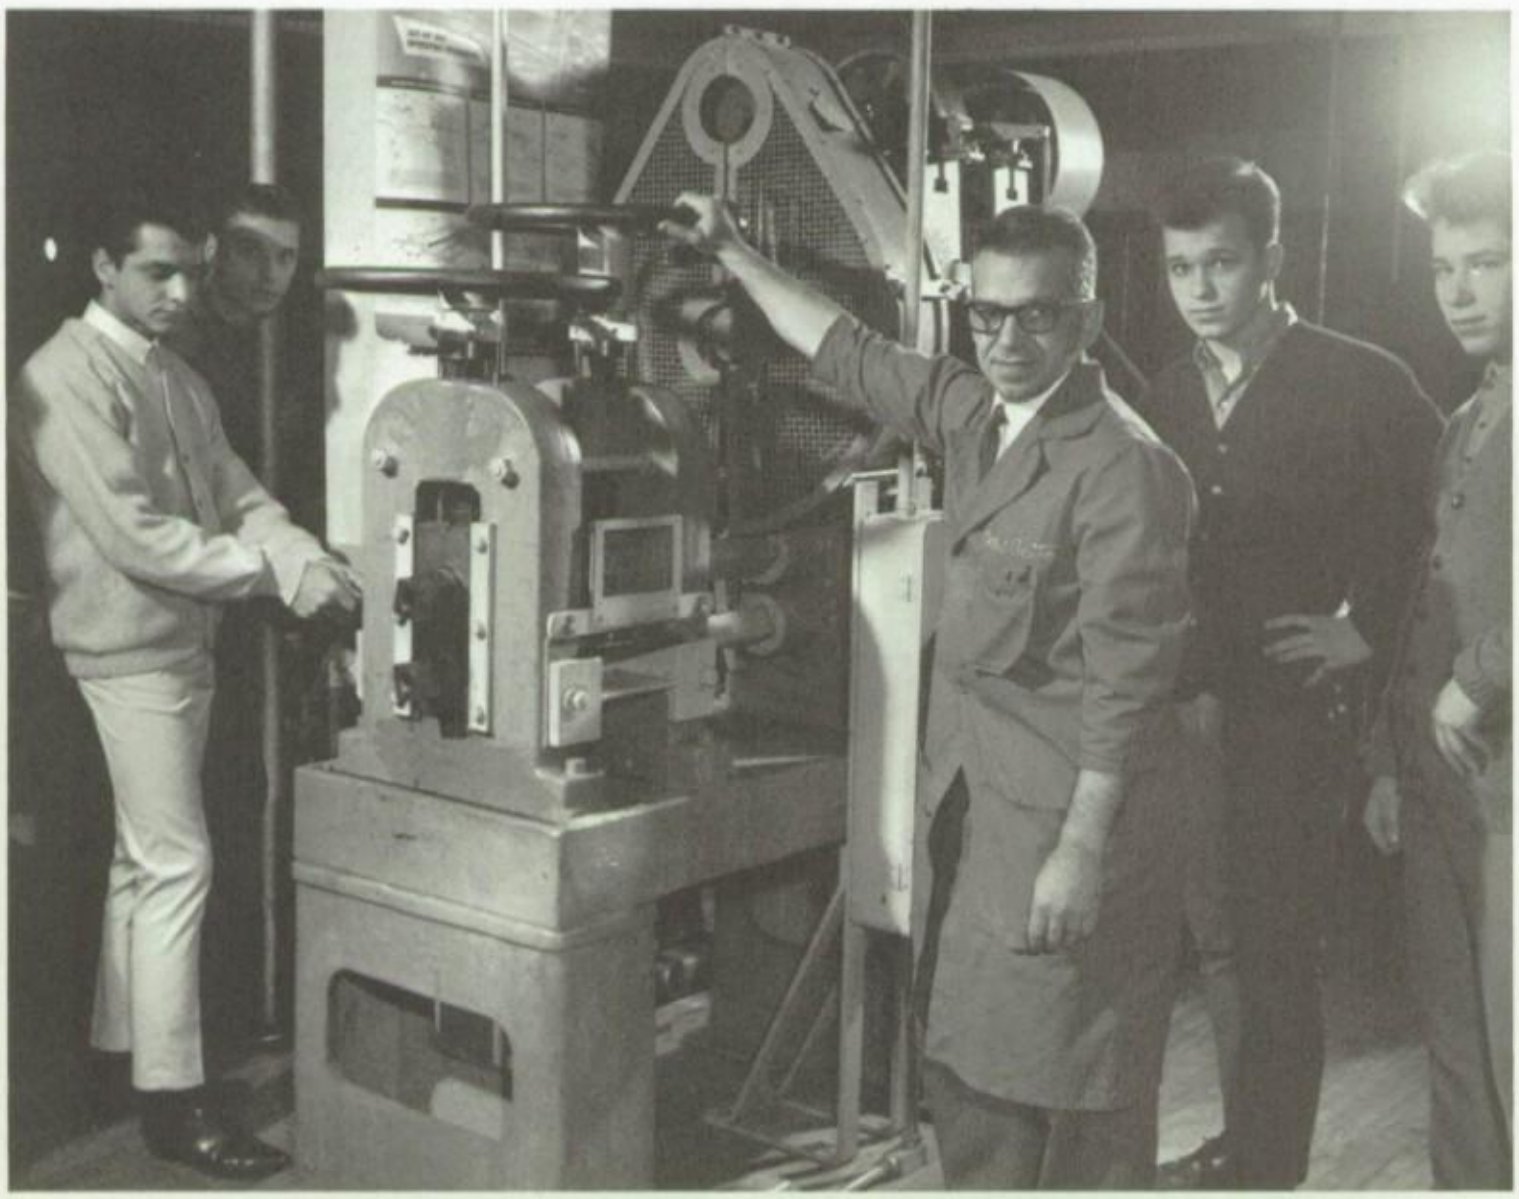
New and modern equipment enables the student to equip himself with the greater range of fabricating skills demanded of today's craftsman.

Opportunities for employment and advancement in this field are unlimited. Air-conditioning has become part of all building construction. New and exotic metals and alloys are being developed to fulfil the needs of a Space Age.

Many more metal craftsmen are needed to meet the needs of today and the challenges of the future.



Mr. Acito and student at tool board.



Mr. Acito demonstrates a rolling mill.

Student in the process of doing a vertical weld.

WELDING

Mr. Clelland demonstrates the use of a radiograph.

Welding is the process by which metal is joined together by the applications of heat, pressure or a combination of both. Mr. Clelland, who is instructor of the Welding Shop, has one of the largest and most complete shops in Rochester. The Welding Shop does a large number of emergency jobs for different shops in the school. Among the 17 machines in Welding Shop is a M.I.G. gun, the only piece of equipment of its kind in the American school system.
